

SYSTEM FOR REGISTERING BIOMETRICS FOR USE WITH A TRANSPONDER

Abstract

The present invention discloses system for registering biometric information for use with a transponder-reader system. The system comprises a biometric sensor for detecting biometric samples. The system also comprises a device for associating the biometric samples with user information as well as transponder information. Finally, the system includes a database for storing the associated biometric samples.